A Message from National Managing Director

It has been great to see the return of our parents, students and teachers to many of our campuses in Sydney for in-person face-to-face learning. In light of evolving world COVID developments, we continue to offer a variety of learning options for our students, and it is YOUR choice whether you want to return to face to face learning or North Shore LIVE Zoom learning from the comfort of your own home. All our campuses continue to take additional measures (depending on location) including increasing air circulation in classrooms, placing air purifiers with HEPA filters in every classroom, ensuring all staff and teachers are vaccinated, all individuals entering our premises are temperature-tested, hand sanitiser and table wipes are readily available, high touch areas are cleaned frequently and we are a COVID-safe business.

We are delighted to announce the opening of our latest campus at Liverpool to service our ever-

Where to in 2022?

If you are reading this you are no doubt tired, a little frazzled and trying to remember what people looked like before we had to wear face masks.

It has been a long two years.

Our resilience and good humour have been tested to their maximum extents. People tend to become more upset by little things that happen. There is more impatience on the roads and less willingness to forgive error.

What will 2022 look like? How many more 'variants of concern' do we need to hear about before our eyes become permanently glazed over?

I, for one, have had enough of the doom and gloom.

We are constantly presented with the negatives of the last 2 years. It's time to count my blessings.

1. Like many people around the world, I lost loved ones to Covid. This has given me the opportunity to reflect on how lucky I was that they were in my life. I realised the need to cherish those of importance to me and to ensure my memories of them continue to enrich my life. I have learned that life is fleeting so love every moment you are given.

2. I became more skilled with online learning and remote work. We rose to the challenge of engaging our students in the virtual world and continued to provide quality education in the midst of lockdown.

3. I embraced the opportunity to learn. I went back to tertiary education, putting myself in the same situation as our students - feeling the same nervousness - wondering if I was finishing my 'homework' correctly and would the teacher like it?

I was fortunate to be able to once again love learning - this is something we can easily forget as adults.

4. I reflected on how fortunate I am to live a blessed life in a country with ample food and water supplies - with world-class medical facilities and stable government. The only thing that limits my success is the perception of my own abilities. My future is as bright as I want to make it.

Your future and more importantly, your child's future, is as bright as you want it to be as well. Count your blessings this holiday season. Reach out to those who are important to you. Live your best life.

We at North Shore will be with you in 2022, happy to assist you in ensuring your child's future is bright.

Stay well, happy and healthy.

Tony Hanlon
National Deputy Principal
